LOCAL DEPARTMENT STORE VISITED BY BURGLARS

Johnstone Walker Company's Store Burglarized Last Night

Thieves Made Away With Large Quantity of Wearing Apparel as Well as Small Sum of Money—The Police Have No Clues as Yet

Effecting an entrance through the back door burglars last night made away with a number of articles from W. Johnstone Walker and Co.'s store, including a small amount of money, but overlooking a much larger amount which was left over night in the till. The selection of articles they took was most remarkable, including all kinds of clothing and the top half of a wax figure used by the store for displaying dresses. What means the thieves adopted of carrying away their plunder which was bulky and heavy is unknown.

Entrance was effected by breaking a portion of the back door and unlocking it through the aperture thus affected. Considerable damage was done to the interior of the store the fine articles on the second story being thrown about and tramped upon.

The police were immediately notified of the burglary and have been working on it all morning. No clue has been obtained as to who the burglars were.

PHENOMENAL GROWTH OF INDUSTRIES WEST OF CITY

LUMBERING INDUSTRY, STILL IN ITS INFANCY, WILL BE VALUABLE ASSET TO PROVINCE—EDSON STARTING POINT OF SETTLERS FOR NORTH AND WEST.

While the attention of Edmontonians has been concentrated upon the rapid development of the northland, and of the farming communities tributary to this city, not west along the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific and Canadian Northern railways, has been formed during the present season the nucleus of a lumbering industry which goes promise of proving one of the most valuable assets of Northern Alberta, and a field in which capital and labor will attain profitable employment.

Up in the McLeod river country the lumbering industry is but in its infancy, but the close of the season will see the development of a very considerable trade by the companies which are opening up this richly endowed

SCORES OF SETTLERS ARE GOING TO GRANDE PRAIRIE

WILL START FOR NORTH AS SOON AS NEW ROAD IS COMPLETED—WILL BE READY FOR TRAFFIC WITHIN TWO WEEKS

When the road to Grande Prairie by way of Edson has been completed, with the construction of 35 miles of new road over the rugged south of Sturgeon lake to take the place of the low lying trail now in use, there will be a general movement of settlers over the trail to Grande Prairie. It is expected that the new portion of the trail will be in shape for traffic within the next two weeks.

Settlers who started for Grande Prairie last winter but were stalled along the Edson trail south of the Athabasca river on account of the impassable condition of the road are now making ready to take up their journey again. A. C. McEachern, of McEachern Brothers, Jasper avenue east, the agents for the stage line to Grande Prairie via Edson, returned to Edson last night. At Edson he found one party of settlers with two carloads of live stock which they are about to take to Grande Prairie over the government trail.

Conditions at the present time are such that this can be done with little difficulty. The grass along the trail will furnish an abundance of pasture and the crossing of the undrained streams is practically the only problem that threatens the success of the undertaking.

The portion of the trail just outside the town of Edson leads directly through a large swamp. Goodway road has been constructed here for a distance of one mile and the corridor has been covered with a grade of earth making the road a very good one. Some of the housekeepers who were detained along the trail in the early spring have taken up claims where they camped and will stay there to prove up.

AGREEMENT MAY BE REACHED TONIGHT

AMALGAMATION COMMITTEES OF TWIN CITIES MEET IN EDMONTON

While nothing official has been given out it is stated on good authority tonight that the proposed amalgamation of the two cities will be a success. The committee on the amalgamation committee has been working on the matter of street railway extension, representatives from Strathcona on the joint committee have, it is reported, decided not to press their demands any further, and when the committee meets tonight in the council chamber will agree to the proposition from Edmonton members, in effect that Strathcona will have one mile of street railway line to two miles in this city.

Another feature of the agreement which representatives from Strathcona on the amalgamation committee will insist upon is that the same conditions with reference to street railway extension in Edmonton must also prevail in Strathcona in the future.

Members of the joint committee are greatly in hopes that tonight's meeting will be the last, after an agreement has been reached.

CALGARY MAY BE STRIKE CENTRE

CARPENTERS CANNOT AGREE WITH CONTRACTORS AND ARE EXPECTED TO WALK OUT

Reports from Calgary today indicate that a general tie-up of the building unless the contractors and carpenters come to an agreement within the next few hours. The contractors, who are actively identified with the building exchange, seek to establish an open shop policy with special reference to the saw and hammer men, with the result that the latter threaten to walk out.

Strained relations between employers and employees is heightened by the failure of the bricklayers and stone-masons to get their scale signed up. If the carpenters, bricklayers and stone-masons all go out the building industry in Calgary will be paralyzed.

Eighteen thousand members of the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and eleven as inside men, went on strike in Calgary Monday and are still out. They ask for an adjustment of the wage scale and more favorable conditions in general.

PROVINCE IS NOW ASSURED A RECORD BREAKING GRAIN CROP

Statistics Compiled by Dept. of Agriculture Show That Over 1,580,000 Have Been Sown to Wheat and Oats an Increase of 388,282 Over Last Year's Acreage

Crop statistics as compiled by the department of agriculture indicate that the areas sown to wheat and oats alone are greater this year than the total of the acreage from which crops were harvested in 1910, and that all along the line, not only is the actual acreage increased, but the conditions of the crops are such that a yield exceeding by a very wide margin the yield per acre in 1910 may be expected. The total acreage under crop this year is 1,900,000, of which 705,245 is sown to oats, 672,734 to spring wheat, and 152,021 to winter wheat. This gives a total of no less than 1,580,000 acres of wheat and oats, an increase of 388,282 over the total cereal areas harvested in 1910.

Last year the oats crop totaled 425,228, the spring wheat crop 450,452, and the winter wheat crop 142,467. Barley comes fourth this year with 125,247 acres sown, as compared with 90,901 acres in 1910. The flax areas have been increased by almost 200 per cent, from 15,271 acres in 1910 to 103,432 during the present year, and the acreage in other grains in 1910, 1,500, is this year increased to the remarkably large total of 171,857 acres.

"Conditions as to moisture throughout the province are reported almost uniformly good," the report reads. "A few places have apparently not enjoyed as much rain as usual, but other districts have had abundance. The crop outlook on the whole, therefore, is very bright."

"Although the crop increase this year is very large," said deputy minister of agriculture in conversation with the Capital this morning, "there is as yet not more than two per cent of the arable land of the province under cultivation. Of the area of 162,255,000 acres, which make up the province of Alberta, allowance may be made for 1,200,000 for lakes throughout the province which is unfit for cultivation. Approximately 100,000,000 acres of land, only two per cent of which has as yet been plowed, exist within the borders of the province for the most conservative estimate would place the total of arable land at two-thirds of the total area."

Mr. Harcourt dwelt upon the possibilities of the vast wheat areas which lie to the north of this city and extend to the north of Fort Smith, 450 miles north of Edmonton on the provincial boundary. At Fort Simpson an experimental farm has been established by the Dominion government, and another is to be established under the management of Mr. Bell. At Fort Vermilion, further south, between 30,000 and 40,000 bushels of grain are produced every year and disposed of to the settlers of the north, and the success which has attended the agricultural experiments at Fort Vermilion and Fort Simpson indicate that the climate

RAIN THREATENS TO MAR CORONATION.

London, June 21.—A heavy fall of rain and generally threatening weather threatens to mar the coronation celebration tomorrow. Already many of the decorations have been ruined and a large amount of repair work will be necessary on some of the sight seeing stands. A large body of workmen has been engaged all day in making the necessary change and erecting awnings for the protection of those who have purchased seats from which to view the procession.

London, June 21.—The last hours of the coronation celebration are being put to the coronation decorations. A large number of people, having business at the Canadian offices, have to crawl under or climb over massive timber barricades to say nothing of doing a headlong dash with hordes of eager sightseers.

The whole city is seething with enthusiasm. The Canadian immigration offices at Clarence Cross are daily decorated with greetings to our King and Queen. One of the best places to view the procession is the frozen trunk of a tree which has been transferred into an amphitheatre where a large body of British and Canadian guests are being entertained. The C. P. R. offices are

PREMIER LAURIER ADDRESSES THE NATIONAL LIBERAL CLUB

STIRRING SPEECH BY CANADA'S PRIME MINISTER—FAVORABLY RECEIVED—DECLARES IMPERIAL CONFERENCE RECOGNIZED NO POLITICAL PARTIES

London, June 21. (C.A.P.)—Much favorable comment has been evoked by the stirring words of Sir Wilfrid Laurier at the luncheon given by the National Liberal club yesterday to the visiting premier. He said in part: "In Canada I am accustomed to be a member of the Liberal party, but when I become my private life I am here by my country, to represent it at the Imperial conference I was neither Liberal or Conservative but simply a British subject and my mission was with my compatriots of the other dominions beyond the seas to endeavor to settle many questions of moment between them, and the mother country, and to improve, if improvement was necessary, the affectionate relations which existed between them."

The British Empire today is a galaxy of free independent nations, but they all owe sovereignty to the British crown. It is the duty of the British crown to be the principal of freedom."

CITY ENGINEER REPORTS ON CONSTRUCTION WORK BEING CARRIED ON—MESSAGE FORWARDED TO KING AND QUEEN ON BEHALF OF THE CITY

Strathcona, June 21.—It was a widely varied program of routine business that came up for consideration at last night's meeting of the council, and in defiance of several time-keeping subjects that cropped up the order of procedure was covered before 10 o'clock. Moreover a number of unusual occurrences helped materially to lighten the otherwise dry session. As for instance the deadlock vote on the alderman's chair on the question of advertising a cement walk along 8th street west, which the mayor decided in favor of the supporters though he sided in his ruling and caused a small little merriment to the council as well as himself. Also there was a little lift between Chief Engineer Evans

There have been some criticisms of its topmost figures, angels blowing horns. The Canadian troops tomorrow will be in full uniform, and the Canadian boy scouts on Constitution Hill. The boys are thoroughly enjoying their encampment at Buckingham which is beautifully situated. Yesterday they were inspected by J. P. Powell. (Continued on Page Four.)

In all the pages of British history these old walls of Westminster have never seen a more majestic spectacle than that of the previous day or so many nations coming to acknowledge the supremacy of the British king and to fill in a number more dramatic perhaps than it was even represented by the mind which conceived the Empire of the British, of the British as the living England, the living mother of living nations. Edmonton Portland Cement Co., Limited

CAPITAL STOCK
$1,500,000

LIEUT. GOV. G. H. V. BULYEA
Chairman of the Board

Article Number Twenty

The shares of the Edmonton Portland Cement Company should advance to $200 within a year for two reasons:

1. The Company owns what is probably the largest known deposit of marl in the world. This marl is almost pure carbonate of lime. Marl usually contains from 25 to 30 per cent. of organic matter and other impurities. The marl owned by this Company is 90 per cent. pure carbonate of lime, and contains less than 5 per cent. of organic matter. In addition to this marl, the Company owns a large bed of the very best blue clay. Both of these materials are ideal for the manufacture of Portland Cement. The best engineers in the United States and Canada have determined that true Portland Cement can be manufactured from these materials at a cost not exceeding 78 cents a barrel.

The present price of Portland Cement in the Edmonton district is $3.30 per barrel. This price is the Eastern mill price of about $1.25 per barrel plus the freight rate to this market of from $1.35 to $2.20 per barrel—based on a haul of 2,500 miles. The demand for Cement in this district is at present about 400,000 barrels per annum. The demand will increase with the development of the Northwest to ten times that quantity in the next ten years. Only a small part of the Cement consumed in the Edmonton district can ever be produced here. The price will therefore always be fixed by Eastern mills.

The Edmonton Portland Cement Company can sell its entire output at its mill door for a minimum price of $3.05 per barrel, less a freight charge of 25 cents per barrel, based on an average haul of 200 miles. This means a profit of $2.00 per barrel or $640,000 on the year's run, or 40 per cent. dividends on the entire Capital Stock of the Company. These facts alone should advance the price of the shares to $200. And they are facts which no business man can deny. But this is not all.

BOOK VALUE OF SHARES WILL BE MORE THAN $200.

The first published statement of the Company will be substantially as follows:

ASSETS

Cash for working capital	$ 170,000
Plant at cost	630,000
Materials purchased sufficient for the manufacture of 12,500 barrels at 20 cents per barrel	2,500,000 $3,300,000

LIABILITIES

Capital Stock	$1,500,000
Surplus to Shareholders	1,800,000 $3,300,000

This statement should make the shares worth $220. And this statement is also based on facts which no business man can deny.

SHARES WILL SHORTLY BEGIN TO ADVANCE

Business men and investors are beginning to appreciate the remarkable merits of the Edmonton Portland Cement Company. As a business proposition it is the best industrial enterprise which has ever been developed in the Northwest. It is in no respect a speculative venture. It is a business proposition based on facts which cannot be questioned. That the Company owns the materials for Cement manufacture in vast quantities cannot be denied. That Portland Cement can be manufactured from these materials for 78 cents per barrel is also a fact that cannot be disputed. And the demand for Portland cement and the price in this market are facts which every merchant, contractor, builder or business man in this community knows well. The conclusion is a simple problem in Arithmetic which any schoolboy can work out. It is simply the lowest current price of Portland Cement, less the cost of manufacture and freight, multiplied by the annual output of the mill which the Edmonton Portland Cement Company is preparing to build.

In other words, if the Edmonton Portland Cement Company can sell cement for $3.05 per barrel, less a freight rate of 25 cents a barrel and manufacture it for 78 cents a barrel, what would be the profit on a year's run of 312,000 barrels? And what rate of dividend would this be on a capital of $1,500,000?

Answer: $630,240, or 42 per cent.

INVESTORS ARE DOING SOME FIGURING

Shrewd investors both in Canada and abroad are doing some figuring for themselves on this proposition. The results were among other things an order by cable on Monday morning from Havre, France, for twenty shares. Already it has been suggested that an association of wealthy men be formed for the purpose of subscribing all of the unsold shares. And something of this nature will undoubtedly be done.

The Company is now offering its shares to the public at par and on easy terms. For example an investor can buy 50 shares now by paying $1,000 in cash, and the remaining $4,000 in four payments of $1,000 each due in three, six, nine and twelve months. Before he makes his second payment the shares will have advanced $25 a share, and before his last payment is made the shares will have doubled in value. And these probable advances are based on undeniable facts and not on any speculative estimates. Is it not evident that this proposition is sure to be snapped up by capitalists as soon as it is understood and appreciated?

SHARES WILL ADVANCE VERY SOON

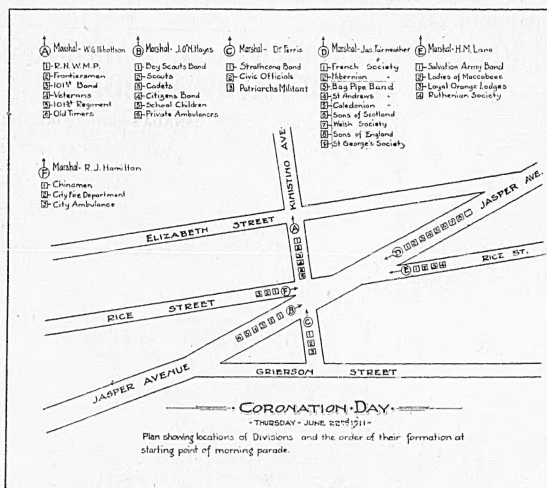

As has been intimated, overtures have already been made to the Company, looking to a proposition to take up all of the shares. When this is done the shares will immediately advance, and with that advance the opportunity to get these shares at par will have gone by. It has been the intention from the outset to make this purely an Edmonton proposition—to keep the stock here—and give the people of this community all the benefits of this splendid enterprise. And this will be done. But there is no way to prevent a combination of wealthy men from buying up all of the unsold stock except to "beat them to it."

The Directors of the Edmonton Portland Cement Company are not going to dispose of all this stock to a group of wealthy men until the public has had due opportunity to participate in this enterprise, but the day of that opportunity is NOW. And the fiscal agents of the Company are saying all on this subject that courtesy to other interests permits them to say. But the day is drawing near at hand when the shares of the Edmonton Portland Cement Company can not be had at par.

Those desiring shares can obtain all necessary information at the Company's Offices, 400-1-2 Moser-Ryder Building. Phone 2171.

CORONATION DAY CELEBRATION

The positions to be taken by the various units of the Coronation Day parade when they arrive at the intersection of Jasper, Main Street, and Rice at 10 o'clock Thursday morning have been definitely decided by the parade committee. There will be a division on each of the six street sections that empties into the common center, and each will move into line in the alphabetical order of the respective divisions.

The positions are shown in the above plan, which indicate the way in which Chairman H. G. Davidson has decided, with his committee of marshals, that the parade shall form.

The first division, lettered A, will organize on Main Street north of Jasper, and facing north. The marshal of this division will be W. G. Hobbins. It will be composed of the 101st Northwest Mounted Police, Frontiersmen, 191st Band, Veterans, 191st Regiment, and Old Timers.

Division B, under the command of Marshal Jack O'Neil Hayes, and will be composed of the Boy Scouts' Bugle Band, the Scouts and Cadets, the Citizens' Band, the school children, and two private ambulances. This will form on Jasper, west of Main Street, and facing east.

Dr. Ferris will be marshal for Division C, which will form on Main Street south of Jasper, and facing north. This division will be made up of the Strathcona Band, the city officials of Edmonton and Strathcona, in carriages, and the Patriarch Militant.

Division D, under Marshal James Fairweather, will line up on Jasper Avenue, east of Main Street, and facing west. This will contain the French, Irish, Scotch, Welsh, and English societies, the Pipers' Band leading the Scotch contingent.

H. M. Lane will be the marshal of Division E, which will line up on Rice Street east of Main Street, facing west, and which will be composed of the Salvation Army Band, the Ladies of the Maccabees, the Loyal Orange Lodge, and the Ruthenian Educational Society.

The last division, designated as F, and under command of Marshal H. J. Hamilton, will be headed by the Chinese band, and this will be followed by the Edmonton Fire Department and the city ambulance.

Bieber Lake, at Dunderburg, and a few miles west of this, at Medicine Lake, is now being constructed the mill of the Jasper Forest Lumber Co., the cost of which will be approximately the same as that of the Huron pulp mill. Lumber will be laid down in Edmonton by these two mills, and by others which are shortly to be established, in competition with the other mills of the province. The timber of these western limits, along the Macleod river country and the eastern slope of the Rockies, varies in diameter from 12 to 18 inches, and is mainly spruce. The establishment between Edson and Medicine Lake of the plant of the Edmonton Portland Cement Co., for the working of the big marl and clay deposits of the district, will assure for the west country one of the largest plants of this character in Canada.

The industrial growth which is now beginning will assure an eventful and prosperous future for not one or two, but several towns along the lines of the new transcontinental between this city and the mountains, but while the year 1911 will go down to history as one of record development in the communities surrounding Edmonton and Calgary to this city, a year in which the villages of former days attained the dignity of incorporation, and with rapidly increasing population, become towns of no small importance there is perhaps no locality in which this rapid urban growth has been more marked than in the village of Edson (shortly to become a town), seven miles west of the mountain division of the Grand Trunk Pacific. Something of this phenomenal growth was described last evening by J. H. Griggs, postmaster in the thriving western municipality, in conversation with a Capital reporter.

With a population which is now close upon the thousand mark, a building boom such as has been surpassed during the year in importance by no other western town of similar beginnings, Edson has become the pivotal town of the Grand Trunk Pacific west of Edmonton. The Grand Trunk Pacific is doubling the capacity of its roundhouse, making a total of 24 stalls, or only smaller than the shops established in Edmonton by two stalls, and the big wages fund which will be distributed among the merchants of the town and circulate throughout the community, will in itself prove an important factor in the town's growth. The Canadian Northern railway surveyors are locating the divisional point for the McKenzie and Macleod, and while no definite announcement has been made, it is commonly believed that the division will be some three or four miles south of the town.

From Edson all points of the compass arteries of commerce will radiate. Construction of the railway to the south, to tap the coalfields of the Pacific Pass coal company, has been carried rapidly ahead during the season by the Shirley people, and it is expected that the road will be operated this fall. The mines are located at districts of 37 and 56 miles from Edson. Northward from the town radiates the stage line to the Peace River country, a line which will be in use this fall, and which will provide the shortest route to the fertile areas of Grande Prairie from this city.

"Within a week from today," said Mr. Griggs, to the Capital last evening, "settlers will be able to get through with their wagons, and by the fall the road will be in excellent condition. Settlers could leave the city this week and not be detained in Edson as the road will be almost ready for use by the time they reach the town. The provincial government has sent 100 men to work on the job, and every effort is being exerted to make the Edson line one of the finest in Alberta. Sturgeon Lake, the point which must be passed by all settlers for Grande Prairie, is 160 miles from Edson, and the trip by way of Athabasca Landing is over 400 miles, so that it is evident that the Edson trail will prove a great boon to the incoming settlers of the future." The road is already in use as a stage line.

Canadian Northern surveyors in parties directed by Wells, J. B. McKenzie, E. M. Hill, and other leading engineers, are now completing the C.N.P. survey and the Grand Trunk Pacific engineer, L. E. Silcox, is preparing a final location for the route of the railway from Edson to the Peace River as recently approved by the minister of railways. It is commonly believed, said Mr. Griggs, that the line will cross the Athabasca river at a point nearly due north of Edson.

Two months ago Edson's village council made application to the provincial government for incorporation of their village as a town. The population qualification they have possessed for many months past, and a count which was made early in the spring before this latest wave of development commenced, showed a total of 585 exclusive of all transients, and of the workmen in the G.T.P. yards. As postmaster, Mr. Griggs has an excellent opportunity for judging the growth in population, and his estimate as given to the Capital last evening is that not less than 1,000 people now reside in the area which will constitute the new town. Two more months must pass before incorporation can be granted, or a period of four months in all.

Four large stores are under construction, in which steel columns are used and all will be modern buildings with plate glass fronts, and suggestive of a town of many times Edson's population. One of the new stores will have a front 130 feet in length. A three story rooming house being erected by Mr. Hefferman, a three story post office building and a new school, for eight roomed building of semi-detached construction, at a cost of approximately $20,000. Plans for the new school are now in course of preparation.

Edson is to hold a big celebration on July 1, and the town will be crowded with people from miles around. Speechmaking will form a feature of the day, and an excellent programme of sports has been prepared. The Grand Trunk Pacific is giving a single fare for the return trip, from June 30 to July 3.

Well, where did you get the name, some of our friends ask us.

Well, this is the spot where the Hundred and First Regiment made their camp last year. They had a good time. They selected the place because the land was high and dry, the beach good and the distance from the station short; plenty of good shade trees and a score of other qualifications. So the owner of the property did them the honor to name the subdivision "Military Point."

Lots are selling at Military Point for the very reasons above mentioned.

Musicians Who Play
On Sunday Are Artists

When the 65th Regiment band of Buffalo played on Sunday in Toronto under engagement by the Toronto Street Railway they were promptly arrested and a prosecution undertaken under the Lord's Day Act. The case was tried in the Toronto police court and the musicians put in the defence that they were artists and therefore did not come under the law.

The case resolved itself into a question as to whether the musicians were artists or laborers, and Magistrate Kingsford dismissed the case on the finding that they were not laborers. This finding is not without interest in Edmonton at the present time.

The Stupidity of the Conservative Managers

The Conservative organization is sending out a series of pamphlets on the reciprocity question. In one place they introduce to the public Mr. Perley, who is travelling with Borden on his hippodrome through the west, as follows:

"Mr. Perley, a wealthy man, one of Canada's millionaires, but his wealth was made before he turned his attention to politics. For half a century the name Perley has been prominently identified with the lumber industry of Canada, and it was out of the rugged forests of the Dominion that Mr. Perley and his father before him hewed their fortunes."

The farmers of the west will be much obliged to meet Mr. Perley and glad of the information which tells them where he is at. But the assinine stupidity of the conservative management which sends the king of the lumber trust to tell the farmers of the west that protection is the thing, is beyond all human understanding.

Alberta's Opportunity
To Make a Municipal Law

Hon. C. R. Mitchell, attorney-general, is calling a meeting of the mayors of the several Alberta cities for the purpose of getting from them their ideas of the features which should be incorporated in the general municipal act which is slated to be passed at the next session of the legislature.

In this connection it is pointed out that a general act will be

In view of the fact that Edmonton has appointed commissioners while Calgary has elected commissioners, that while Edmonton will be within a very short time taxing land only, Calgary assesses buildings at one-half their value, and that while Strathcona is working on the council committee system, Medicine Hat and Lethbridge have a system which is different from all the others, it is not at all likely that a meeting of the mayors or even of the legislature is likely to evolve a model charter which will be acceptable to all.

Which prompts the question of: Why not give the cities home rule?

As the matter stands now, the cities of Alberta are all governed according to charters, each separately framed and granted, upon application, by the legislature. One city wants one set of fundamental regulations and another city wants another. None corresponding. When a city discovers, as Edmonton has discovered, that its charter is unworkable, it must go to the legislature for a change. Municipal charters, to a large extent, are very much like the state constitutions in United States.

The greatest advantage which the British system of government has over that in vogue in United States is that British governments are not bound by hard and fast constitutions made by men now dead. When a British province, such as Alberta, wants a law—for a glaring example take the Workmen's Compensation act—the legislature passes the law and the law which the legislature passes is the law and there is no constitutional reason to prevent its enforcement. But when a state, such as the great and powerful Empire State of New York, with its six million people, undertakes to pass a workmen's compensation act, a supreme court of three men set it aside on the grounds that it is unconstitutional.

The difference is that the British provinces have home rule under which they make their law within their powers, as they go along, while the states have a constitution under which every law is subject to constitutional limitations. That public sentiment may be overwhelmingly in favor of the law which proves to be unconstitutional has no bearing on the case at all. The only way to get the law into force is to secure an amendment to the constitution made by men who could have no the slightest conception of the requirements of a time a century subsequent to their demise.

Just so with municipal charters. The charters granted to cities provide that certain things can be done and certain others cannot be done. The citizens of the city have no option in the matter. The charter is there, and to carry out the desires of the citizens where these desires collide with the charter it is necessary to go to the legislature for a change in the charter.

Oregon improves on this system immensely. In Oregon the municipalities have home rule. If a city desires to change its system it does so by the mere formality of passing a law by popular vote. Instead of cluttering the legislature year after year, as Edmonton and Calgary and Lethbridge and Strathcona have done, with amendments to their charters, Oregon municipalities pass their own amendments and make or remake their own charters.

Manifestly, where a municipality is competent to decide for itself what changes it desires in its municipal government it should not be necessary to go to the legislature for consent, always providing that the rights of other municipalities or the province are not infringed.

Therefore, in framing a general incorporation act, the act giving the municipalities the widest latitude should be the most satisfactory act. There are some general principles which would require to be set down, just as some general principles are set down in the autonomy acts under which the provinces derive their power. For instance, no municipality could well object to a general regulation regarding school accommodation, a general law regulating borrowing powers, a general law prohibiting bounties, a general annexation or extension law by which municipalities could merge or extend their boundaries, a general law governing the right to vote and a general law governing the granting of franchises to public service corporations.

All these things and many other principles might well be set down in a general municipalities act, but beyond general principles it is clear that the powers could well be left with the voters of the municipalities.

Certainly if Edmonton at the present time desired to adopt the Calgary commissioner system or if Calgary desired to adopt the Edmonton system, it should not be necessary to waste the time of the legislature with the matter when the decision could be better and more representatively reached by a vote of the citizens of the city which desired to make the change.

Alberta has the opportunity at the present time to make a municipal act which will be second to none in America, but the opportunity will be lost if the attempt is made to place all the city charters of the province together and evolve from these a composite charter which will apply to all cities alike.

A STUPENDOUS TASK.

What it means to engineer such a celebration as Edmonton proposes on Coronation Day only the initiated know.

From the chairman of each committee Chairman Blue exacts written detail of everything undertaken by the various sections of the day's proceedings. Not alone this, but each sub-committee must have its detail and data passed over and assented to by his "chief" general.

His first promise is: the public safety, his second the utilization of interests so that all may make the best of their opportunity to make the day a success. To bring order out of a chaos of four thousand participants, to bring cohesion, to avoid friction—what a task.

Yet he has faced the position coolly. Having no small share of the opinion of Sunny Alberta he has faced the danger of under-estimated estimates, the acerbity of those whose estimates he has rudely cut; he has excited a generous emulation among the various contestants, excited from the musicians their last ounce of energy and yet infused all with his own boundless enthusiasm.

It now only remains for our citizens to back his efforts. Well decorated stores and private residences should be his reward and thus repay the enormous amount of work and worry he has willingly undertaken. His postulate is Napoleonic: "Success." He has demanded economy of estimate, but generosity of performance from all his colleagues, his only reward can be a successful, memorable day. It is left to our citizens to do that part which he cannot exert his authoritative, yet beneficent authority.

He was called to the English bar in 1877, but the following year he came to Canada and began the practice of his profession in Toronto, where he soon attained prominence as a barrister and solicitor. POLITICS AND POLITICIANS

Hoboken, N. J., will hold a special election on June 27 to decide whether or not the city should be governed by commission.

The demands for the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people was first uttered in the platform of the Populist party in 1881. Representative Benjamin Harrison of Pennsylvania is the oldest member of the House in point of service, having served continuously for seventeen terms.

Judge E. C. O'Pear serves the most likely candidate for the Republican nomination for governor of Kentucky. The nomination is to be made early next month.

In offering himself for re-election, Senator Clapp of Oregon, proposes to spend no money, make no speeches and solicit no votes.

Senator Clapp of Minnesota, Representative Norris of Nebraska, and several other Progressive members of Congress, have accepted invitations to speak at the meetings of the Pennsylvania State Grange during the next three months.

Among those who are mentioned as possible managers of the Republican national campaign next year are William L. McKim and Charles D. Hilles, secretary to the president.

The Woodrow Wilson League is to give a dollar dinner in Newark next week in honor of Governor Wilson, "in appreciation of the work done during his administration and in recognition of the dawn of a new era in the politics of New Jersey under his leadership."

Congressman Robert F. Broussard, of the Third Louisiana district, has announced his candidacy for the United States senate for the term beginning March 4, 1913, to be voted on at the Democratic state primary this summer. His opponents will be Governor Sanders and Congressman Pajo.

Judge W. P. Green, who has been elected to Congress from the Ninth Iowa district, has been on the bench for fifteen years. He is a native of Illinois and a graduate of Ohio State College. He was admitted to the Illinois bar in 1882 and a short time afterwards removed to Iowa.

LONDON AWAITING

The coronation of King George and Queen Mary is the one topic uppermost in the minds of the people of London today. For while the brilliant ceremony is of world-wide interest, it is in London that the great and glorious scenes associated with the event will be carried on.

London tomorrow will be the scene of a magnificent procession and representation of power and might as well as the glories of the jubilee celebrations of 1887 and 1897 and the coronation of Edward VII. in 1902, and will provide for all who have the privilege of seeing it, a vision of splendor unequalled in recent times. King and courtier, military and civil officials, lord mayor and citizens, have all, in their respective spheres, concentrated their efforts in the voiding together of the multifarious parts in a pageant which will lack nothing in its wealth of color and brilliancy.

The Coronation Processions

With that willingness which has ever characterized the King and Queen to study, as far as possible, the wishes of their loyal subjects, arrangements have been made for two royal processions through the streets of the metropolis. The first will take place tomorrow when their Majesties go from Buckingham Palace to Westminster Abbey, to be crowned, and the second on Friday, when they proceed from the palace to the city proper, where they will be received by the lord mayor and corporation in state. This will mean a drive through the centre of London, and then, in order that all classes may have an opportunity of taking part in the celebration, their Majesties will cross London Bridge and return on the south side of the Thames passing through some of the meaner streets of the metropolis. To nineteenth of the people of London, seeing the coronation will mean merely seeing the great processions of Friday.

For the coronation ceremony to tomorrow the King and Queen will go to Westminster Abbey by the shortest route from Buckingham Palace, through the Mall, the archway and courtyard of the Horse Guards, Whitehall, Parliament street and Parliament Square. Returning after the ceremony, which will last about two hours, a royal route will be taken by way of Charing Cross, Cockspur street, Pall Mall, St. James street, Piccadilly, Hyde Park corner, and Grosvenor hill. But few persons, in comparison with the enormous crowds now in London, will be able to get a good view of tomorrow's processions. The most of the great stands that have been erected have been placed on the route of Friday's procession, which is expected to attract a more elaborate spectacle than that of tomorrow. Patient folks, who rise early, may secure standing room along the street curbs, but those who have to stand on tiptoe to see over the heads of the foot guards, tall fellows, all of them, even if they endure the hours of tedious waiting and have the luck to retain their places.

Many Royal Visitors

London has attracted to London more royal visitors than have ever been seen here at one time before. In the state rooms of St. James's Palace tonight the Duke of Cornwall gives a dinner in his honor to some of the most distinguished of the foreign delegates that from Japan, which includes Prince Fushimi, Admiral Togo and Prince of Romania, Prince Henry of Prussia and his wife, who represents the German Emperor and Empress, are doubly related to the King through Prince Henry's mother, Empress Frederick, and Princess Henry's mother, Princess Alice. The Crown Prince and Princess of Romania are well known in England. The Crown Princess is King George's first cousin and spent her childhood in England. She will be perhaps the handsomest of the foreign princesses attending the ceremony.

Duchess of Aosta a Beauty

The Duchess of Aosta, wife of the heir presumptive to the throne of Italy, will be the Crown Princess of Romania's chief royal rival in the matter of good looks. She was married when Helene d'Orleans, the Duke of Austria, at Kingston on the Thames, and she made her social debut at a Marlborough House garden party, so a visit to England is rather like a home coming to her. Other interesting foreign visitors here for the ceremony tomorrow are Prince Henry of the Netherlands, the Crown Prince of Serbia, Prince Yussef Izzet-pa of Turkey, the Archduke Francis Ferdinand of Austria, the Crown Prince of Denmark, the Crown Prince and Princess of Sweden, and Prince and Princess Johan George of Saxony.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS MEETING IN SAN FRANCISCO

PARADE WITH 15,000 DELEGATES IN LINE WILL BE A FEATURE ON FRIDAY--MANY IMPORTANT PROBLEMS TO BE TAKEN UP.

San Francisco, Calif., June 21.—Although incoming trains still continue to bring large numbers of delegates and visitors to this city, the numerical success of the thirteenth triennial convention of the International Sunday School association, which opened here today to remain in session one week, is already assured. It is safe to say that the present convention is the largest ever held in this country. It is expected that at the opening general meeting tomorrow fully 4,500 regular delegates, representing the 252,000 Sunday schools of the United States and Canada, will be in attendance.

As this is the first time in the history of the association that its triennial convention is held west of the Rocky mountains, the people of the Pacific coast states, from San Diego to Victoria, have taken unusual interest in the event and nearly every city and town has sent large delegations. The city is handsomely decorated in honor of the Sunday school workers and among the principal features of decoration is a large electric sign, representing an open Bible, with a large cross outlined across the pages.

Today is devoted to conferences on home missions and the Sunday school. The programme for the evening includes a large missionary mass meeting with addresses by several distinguished speakers. Wednesday morning and afternoon the various departmental conferences will be held.

The opening session of the convention proper will be held Wednesday evening at the Coliseum and will be devoted principally to addresses of welcome by Governor Johnson, of California, Mayor McCarthy of San Francisco, Hon. Holla V. Watts, representing the business men of this city, and D. H. H. Bell of the California local committee. Responses will be made by Hon. John Stiles of Louisville, Ky., president of the international association, and Justice MacLaren of the Ontario court of appeals. The Rev. D. A. Dornay of Chicago will deliver an address on "The Sunday School in the Christian Conquest of North America," and Dr. Chapman on "The Open Bible and the Unfettered Cross." Great themes will be considered during the convention, and every phase of Sunday school endeavor will be intelligently discussed by practical men and women. In accordance with the programme there will be three especially notable sessions. On Thursday evening the tercentenary of the King James version of the Bible will be observed with appropriate addresses by Dr. Charles F. Aked of San Francisco, Dr. H. M. Hamill of Nashville, Tenn., and Dr. R. F. Gayle of Denver, Col.

PEACE RIVER IS RICH IN MINERALS

PROSPECTOR LEAVES FOR NORTH EDMONTON—TO SPEND MONTHS EXAMINING DEPOSITS

Apart from the splendid farming lands available in the Grand Prairie district the mineral resources of the headwaters of the Peace river is being exploited by mining men and prospectors.

Among those who will travel to the head of the Peace river this season for the purpose of examining the mineral deposits which exists there is J. P. Hughes, a pioneer prospector of the rocky mountains in both Canada and the United States. In an interview with Mr. Hughes who arrived in Edmonton last night it was explained that the purpose of his visit to the country was to thoroughly examine the eastern foothills of the Rockies north of the Peace river and that he was representing a newly formed company known as the Peace River Development Co., which is composed of business men of Winnipeg. Mr. Hughes made a trip into this country two years ago via the Hazelton route but will travel this year over the new government road from Edmonton. The trip will be made by pack train, the horses are being packed together with the bedding, tools, and supplies. Late last fall many deposits of fine gold was found in the upper Peace river gravels but owing to the cost of transportation into the district it is rarely visited by prospectors. Mr. Hughes intends to return to Edmonton late in the fall and if successful will have some valuable information on his return of this hitherto unexplored northland.

CANADIAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

Toronto, Ont., June 21.—The annual meeting of the Canadian Press association began at the King Edward Hotel today with a good attendance. The sessions will continue over tomorrow and will be followed by an excursion to the island district of the Georgian Bay.

HARRY WHITNEY PAYS CITY VISIT

MAN WHO WAS WITH PEARY AT ETAH BOUND FOR CANADIAN ROCKIES ON HUNTING TRIP

Harry Whitney the man who accompanied Cook on his arctic expedition in search of the north pole and who was prominent in the controversy arising between Cook and Peary regarding the discovery of the pole by the former came to Edmonton yesterday morning and left on the early train today for Edson. Accompanied by two companions, John H. Luman and P. M. Carnegie, both of New York, Mr. Whitney will spend a couple of months in the mountains, fishing and exploring the unknown streams of the Rockies.

At Edson they will meet John Warren who for many years ran a pack outfit in Colorado. He will guide the party on their trip through the mountains. On more than one occasion he has acted as guide to Mr. Whitney on trips of big game hunting expeditions through the Rockies in Colorado.

This is Mr. Whitney's first trip through Western Canada. Several years ago he visited Winnipeg but did not come west of there. Six years of his life were spent in the Arctic. When Peary made his dash for the pole Mr. Whitney was with the Esquimaux for eighteen months at Etah on the coast of Greenland.

During his stay at this post he became thoroughly familiar with the manner of living of the Esquimaux. He found them very wasteful of game and they were rapidly killing off all the big game in the country. Following up a large herd of caribou they would continue to kill them as long as there was one left, stopping only to pile skins around the carcasses. Then, taking their families they would camp along the trail of slaughter, remaining at one place until all the carcasses within reach had been eaten.

During the past summer Mr. Whitney was engaged in a hunting trip on the east coast of Baffin's Land. A boat was purchased for the purpose and they put in to shore in the regions where musk ox and other big game could be found in abundance. Over 100 musk ox were shot, and several polar bears were captured. One young musk ox and two polar bears were taken to Bronx park, New York.

Referring to recent press dispatches Mr. Whitney said that he did not consider the experiment of Dr. Grenfell in introducing Land reindeer in Northern Labrador would be altogether successful. For travelling over snow or snow covered ice the reindeer would be satisfactory, he thought but for travelling over newly frozen lands or going far out to sea the dogs were the most satisfactory.

On his return from the trip through the mountains Mr. Whitney will go to Vancouver.

BANK ROBBERS STILL AT LARGE

MEN WHO STOLE 100 YARDS OF SAND BEING SEARCHED FOR BY POLICE

That a gang of bank robbers seems to be operating in the neighborhood of Edmonton is evidenced by the bank robbery which occurred a few days ago when a sand bank a few miles down the river was broken into and over 100 yards of sand removed by unknown people. Several wagons must have been used to take away the sand but no trace of the criminals has yet been found. The sand which is on the river bank is said to contain a considerable amount of gold dust which has not been washed.

BRANDON GATHER IN A GAME FROM THE JAW BY FIVE TO SIX SCORE AND CLIMB

Brandon, June 21.—Brandon managed to win the second game of the series by Andy Hitting. The Robins, although they outdid the visitors, failed to connect at the right time. Several errors by the home team also helped to lose the game. Today a new Brandon twirler pitched his first game last night, and looks to be a good one.

PITY 'TIS, 'TIS TRUE ESKIMOS LOSE TWO

TEN TO EIGHT AND FIVE TO FOUR WERE THE SCORES—COWPUNCHVILLE CELEBRATES MUCHLY LAST NIGHT'S VICTORY OVER ESKIMOS.

Calgary, Alta., June 20.—Before two of the biggest crowds that have witnessed the festive ball games here this year, the savage Eskimos were again taken in the mire. The afternoon tumble was one of those hair raising affairs that cause strong men to cough up gloves, and weak men to lie themselves to the swimming arena doors for nervousness.

Ten to eight is close enough for any Calgary crowd, for closer than that is almost fatal. Then in the evening game, the men of Cowpunchville, the tribe simply wiped their feet on the men from the north.

And when the operation was declared complete the score boy had shoved up the figures 5 to 4. Both games were full of incidents and checked to the top with good ball. Edmonton looked to have the first game in their pocket but just at the right time the men of the local arena maintained their hands, and landed on the pill for the hits that counted. The evening game was of the same kind. The gods were good to the Stanleyites and when the bases were peopled the hits came right along.

In the first inning, Mills popped to Leitz and Mackin and Luss walked. Van Dine got to first on an error of Leitz, who failed to cover first when the ball was grassed to Morgan. Cox passed a single and everyone ran before the ball was again in Leitz's hands. Slight was hit with the ball, and it looked to be all over but the splash. Dudley whiffed and Sorenson died at first on a bad pick up by O'Brien. The Broncos captured three in their initial spurt, Moran pulling a pass, O'Brien advancing him a peg with a spitting bullet, Wilson flying to left and Chick dying at first. Then James Flanagan coming up, drilled a pretty triple to centre and the score was tied.

Van Dine allowed Strick a life and Slight caught him by a whizzer throw to second. It looked to be safe. Moran's triple to third followed by O'Brien's single made another easy run. Chick and Flanagan hit at wide angles, and the score was 3 to 2.

In the fifth Chick with one out got a double and O'Brien who had gone to the corner in the waxon and had stolen came home in hotfoot fashion. Edmonton got theirs in the sixth when Mr. Luss found the fans by raking down a triple. Next up, Van Dine fanned, and Cox tore off a pretty double. Slight whiffed and White Dudley hit for a single Sorenson died and the pit was wasted in the left on this base count. Considerable betting is being done in the city on the games and the odds are now on Calgary to win.

JEFF'S ADVENTURE

Little Jeff saw Mutt being taken from the car as described in the last chapter of the pair and snuggled a little further into the corner of the berth. "At last I have got rid of my bum side kickery," he said with a sigh and floated away into slumber. He slept for only a few minutes, however, when he was rudely awakened by having a big hand thrust into the pit of his stomach. "Oh, goodness!" he exclaimed, "The villain has mistaken me for a pillow." There was nothing to be done, however, except to grin and bear it, so Jeff did that. When the train arrived in Calgary and the local head had arisen Jeff sneaked out of the car. The porter eyed him suspiciously but said nothing.

As evening approached Jeff found his way to the ball park meeting Deacon White on the road. "Hello, Deak!" he piped, "want a mascot?"

Deacon being kind-hearted and perceiving what was up admitted that he did, and asked Jeff to get in that capacity. Jeff walked to the grounds with the team. Jeff made a poor mascot, for no sooner had the same started than he climbed into the bleachers and began to root.

"You big sized, eyed, double tongued steel brained, wooden headed idiot," he yelled, "call that a strike! Why that thrower couldn't put a pumpkin over a city block. What's his name?" "Stanbridge," said a disgusted bleacherite, hoping by the sound of the name to save Jeff his silence, but failing.

Stanbridge, Stanbridge. That mutt Stanbridge! Why, he's as wild as my side kicker Mutt, who's still at West. "Now the name of Mutt is Stanbridge," said Jeff, "and when Jeff made his untimely comparison there was a scene from a melodrama enacted in front of the bleachers.

In a ragged game at Diamond park last night the Retailers defeated the Irish Canadians by a score of twelve to four. The game was remarkable for the number of errors and for the number of stolen bases. Nearly every man that got on first base the second base and a good number went on third in the same way. Then number of hits secured by the Retailers rose into two figures.

The Irish started off well setting a lead in the first and second that should have put them in a position to win the game but they fell away in the pitching box and in the third the Retailers got six hits and five runs. A couple of errors and a bunch of stolen bases in that inning helped to make the number large.

The sixth and eighth were also prosperous innings for the aggressive Retailers. Their opponents were hit, stole second, stole third. Muirhead walked, Hartley dropped an easy grounder and Trip scored. The Irish started the third with a single. Drayton singled. Muirhead singled and Trip scored. Hartley got to first on an error to the bag. South lifted a two bagger and Muirhead and Hartley scored. Holbery singled and Smith scored.

In the fourth a single by Muirhead, an error on second base and another single allowed the first batter to score. In the fifth Purchase singled and stole second. Oliver drove through first and Purchase scored. Foster grounded out and Oliver took second and stole third. Trip did Van Norman singled and went to second on a passed ball. Muirhead singled and Oliver and Van Norman scored.

In the seventh a single by Trip followed by a three base hit by Van Norman and a single by Muirhead brought two runs over the croskeys, making the complete score of twelve to four. The losing line up, as follows:
